

WHERE to RETIRE

May/June 2010
Editorial Calendar

Closing Date: February 1, 2010

Publication Date: April 1, 2010

SPECIAL 2010 SIX-PART SERIES

Ready for the Rebound – Part Three 50 Hot Spots for Retirement Real Estate Discounts

In this issue, we highlight 8 mountain and lake retreats with incredible views, plenty of opportunities for outdoor recreation and outstanding home values.

Plus...

City Profiles

Mount Dora, FL

This lakeside haven, home to hundreds of boaters and the oldest sailing regatta in the state, also suits collectors of antiques and fine art. Special events celebrate music, literature, bike racing and haute cuisine.

Oceanside, CA

Between San Diego and Los Angeles, this sunny gem offers the amiable climate and bountiful amenities of Southern California without such a hefty price tag. More than three miles of beaches, ample hiking trails add to its appeal.

Hendersonville, NC

Close to the Blue Ridge Parkway and nearly surrounded by forestlands, this town is known for its natural beauty and countless opportunities for fishing, hiking and camping. Residents appreciate its historic downtown and an active local arts council.

Las Cruces, NM

The fastest-growing city in New Mexico has a state university, two hospitals, four golf courses and 350 days of sunshine a year. It's set against a backdrop of the rugged Organ Mountains and offers a rich multicultural history.

Features

The Splitter Lifestyle

Splitting time between two locations is a fun retirement lifestyle, but brings challenges. We share experiences and tips from couples to help those thinking about getting that second home with such good prices today.

Going Native in Your New Garden

Adapt to the climate of your new retirement locale with our guide for "native" gardens — ones that embrace local plants, soil types and weather patterns.

Departments

Financial Consultant: How do appraisers determine the value of your home? Experts provide advice to help owners get top dollar when they put their house on the market.

Best Neighborhood: Pelican Preserve, Fort Myers, FL