

WHERE to RETIRE

November/December 2010
Editorial Calendar

Closing Date: August 2, 2010
Publication Date: October 1, 2010

SPECIAL 2010 SIX-PART SERIES

Ready for the Rebound – Part Six 50 Hot Spots for Retirement Real Estate Discounts

Concluding our yearlong exploration of top markets for baby boomers and retirees, we examine eight dazzling desert oases with sunny climes and unusual bargains in housing – including Albuquerque, NM; Phoenix and Tucson, AZ; St. George, UT; and Grand Junction, CO.

Plus...

City Profiles

Gainesville, FL

Home of the University of Florida and enthusiastic fans of “Gator Nation,” this city appreciates college sports, live theater, multiple golf courses and outdoor recreation in the neighboring lake country.

Bozeman, MT

Close to Yellowstone National Park, this sportsman’s paradise offers countless acres of hiking and biking trails, fishing streams and campsites. Arts and cultural festivals add to the appeal.

Oxford, MS

A Southern college community committed to the literary arts and “Ole Miss” football, this destination has additional lures of a low cost of living, stellar dining scene and historic sites.

Brunswick, ME

Small-town charm meets city amenities in this former fishing village. Residents gather on the “green” for concerts and picnics and enjoy the art museum and events at Bowdoin College, along with the Maine State Music Theatre.

Features

Communities Going Green

Check out the latest in homes certified to cut your costs and the growing number of green communities today.

Departments

Financial Consultant: See how states tax Social Security, pensions and other forms of retirement income.

Best Neighborhood: Hill Country Retreat by Del Webb, San Antonio, TX